SASS Collaborates with International Partners to Address Emerging Threats

Pretoria, 20/05/2023 – The South African Secret Service (SASS) is proud to announce its ongoing collaboration with international intelligence and security partners to collectively address emerging threats to global stability and security.

In an increasingly interconnected world, the challenges to national and international security are constantly evolving. Recognizing the importance of international cooperation, SASS has established strong partnerships with intelligence agencies from various countries. These collaborations enable the exchange of vital information, joint threat assessments, and coordinated efforts to counteract threats that transcend borders.

"The threats we face today are not confined by geographic boundaries. They require a united effort and a shared commitment to safeguarding the well-being of our citizens and our partners around the world," said [Spokesperson's Name], Spokesperson for SASS. "Our collaboration with international partners amplifies our collective capabilities and enhances our ability to respond effectively to complex challenges."

This collaborative approach encompasses intelligence sharing, joint training exercises, and strategic planning to address a wide range of issues, including counterterrorism, cybersecurity, organized crime, and more. By leveraging the strengths and expertise of partner agencies, SASS aims to create a safer and more secure global environment.

SASS remains committed to upholding its mandate to protect the sovereignty and security of the Republic of South Africa. Through international partnerships, the agency continues to play a vital role in preventing and mitigating threats that can impact the stability of nations and the well-being of their citizens.
